Labour Day Holiday on Monday for Victorians

Labour Day is a public holiday in Australia that was originally called 'Eight Hours Day'. This holiday is commemorated on different dates in the Australian States.

In ACT, New South Wales and South Australia, Labour Day takes place on the first Monday in October. In Northern Territory and Queensland, the public holiday is on the first Monday in May. It is celebrated on the second Monday in March in Victoria and Tasmania. The holiday is still called Eight Hours Day in Tasmania. Western Australia marks Labour day on the first Monday in March.

History of Labour Day in Australia

Labour Day in Australia commemorates the achievements of organised labour to implement the eight-hour day in the middle of the nineteenth century when previously workers were required to work 10 - 12 hours a day for six days a week.

While a change was made to the hours worked each day, the five day work week that most people enjoy today took almost a hundred years longer and was finally adopted in 1948.

Many union buildings across Australia have the numbers 888 on them. The numbers are in support of British socialist Robert Owen who believed that people should have 8 hours to work, 8 hours for recreation and 8 hours to sleep. This philosophy helped foster The Eight Hours Movement.

The first Labour Day parade was held in Melbourne on 21st April 1856.

The present day parades across Australia, are an enduring reminder of the advances made by the unions on behalf of the workers.

Labour Day is celebrated at different times across Australia because each state achieved the 8-hour day on different dates.

In New Zealand, this holiday is celebrated on the fourth Monday in October

Darebin Streets for People Project – Northern Reservoir Corridor

Darebin Council is seeking your feedback on the Northern Reservoir Corridor Streets for People project. The project aims to make these streets more people-friendly and enjoyable places to be by prioritising sustainable transport modes.

Our school has been contacted because of its proximity to the study area, which includes Crookston Road between Cheddar Road and the Darebin Creek Trail (see attached information flyer for map). We understand that many families use active modes of travel to get to and from schools, so schools are in a good position to provide feedback on issues and opportunities.

You can provide feedback through the online survey at <https://www.yoursaydarebin.com.au/northernreservoircorridor>

Athletics Day

The Year 3 – 6 children had a wonderful day at the Inter-School District Athletics Competition on Tuesday at Meadowglen Athletics Track. Approximately 70 children from our school competed in track and field events including running – 100m to 800m and relays; discus, shotput, high, long and triple jump; and the team events of crossball and tunnel ball. Our children put in 100% effort in all events and out of the 9 schools competing we placed 3rd overall, an amazing effort! There were some outstanding achievements by our children individually and in the team events. If any of our children have placed first or second in individual A events, then they will go on to the next competition level. Thank you to the parents who were able to come along and cheer on our students.
